

An aerial photograph showing a winding river, likely the Swan River, flowing through a wooded area. A prominent red line traces the course of the river, defining a specific section. Yellow lines delineate various property parcels, some of which include buildings and a road. The text '1100 feet of Swan River frontage' is overlaid in white on the river section.

1100 feet of
Swan River frontage